

Americans: Don't Ride on Mussolini's Ships! - Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The United States was fully embarked today upon a precedent-shattering neutrality policy capped by a formal proclamation by President Roosevelt admonishing American travelers to keep off vessels of Italy and Ethiopia.

As the 17,000 men of the coast guard and customs service took up today the task of preventing any shipments of American arms and munitions to the two embattled nations, diplomats in the world's capitals were busy studying the President's triple move over the week-end.

BESIDES proclaiming the embargo and the warning to travelers—two steps provided for in the recent neutrality legislation adopted by congress—the President went beyond the text of that legislation in another move. He declared in a statement that Americans who engage in "transactions of any character" with either of the belligerents will "do so at their own risk."

THIS marked a distinct reversal of policy. In the past the United States has argued for the right of neutral citizens and commerce to "freedom of the seas." Passionate controversy about deaths and injuries suffered by Americans and about restrictions on American trade preceded this country's entry into the World War. The warning to travelers was issued last night after the President had made his other two moves late Saturday night.

Since Ethiopia has no merchant marine, the latest proclamation affects only the ships of Italy.

AFTER quoting the authority conferred upon him by the neutrality law, the President proclaimed:

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the said joint resolution of congress, do hereby admonish all citizens of the United States to abstain from traveling on any vessel of either of the belligerent nations contrary to the provisions of the said joint resolution; and who may travel on such vessel, contrary to the provisions of the said joint resolution, will do so at his own risk."

While all officials here remained silent, observers here and elsewhere pondered several questions, among them:

1. To what extent will American exporters of raw materials and other goods to Italy refrain from shipments because of the President's action? (Shipments to Ethiopia are negligible).
2. What bearing, if any, will the embargo on munitions shipments and the warning about other transactions have on any sanctions (financial and economic pressure) which the League of Nations may decide to apply against Italy?

Rumor Of Peace Terms Proposed By Italy Is Denied In Rome

Ethiopians Say Italians Driven Back But Latter Celebrate Victory

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 7.—Ethiopian sources disclosed today that Emperor Haile Selassie plans to lead an army of 120,000 fighters into the field against Italy within two weeks.

This disclosure was made as rumors circulated in the capital that Italy has proposed peace terms to the emperor. One of the imperial advisers called the rumors "almost" true, but declined further comment.

In Rome, Italian officials said peace terms were farthest from their thoughts.

Luigi Vinci-Gigliucio, the Italian minister, said he was not informed of such a proposal.

It was stated that the emperor's personal army would have as its backbone 5000 of his modernly equipped imperial guards.

Starts on Muleback

The emperor was expected to take this force toward Dessaye, which lies at a strategic middle distance in the triangle formed by Addis Ababa, Adawa and Mount Mussa Ali. He was to proceed the first 30 miles from Addis Ababa on muleback, then to go by automobile.

DRIVER BLAMED FOR DEATH

Jack Vidosh, Anaheim truck driver, today was held responsible by a coroner's jury for the death Thursday night of S. H. Hayward, 62, Laguna Beach. Vidosh will be arraigned on manslaughter charge Thursday at 10 a. m. before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison.

The jury held that the death of Mr. Hayward was due to "the negligent and careless manner in which John Vidosh operated his truck." Mr. Hayward suffered fatal injuries when the light delivery truck he was driving collided with another delivery truck driven by Vidosh.

BOARD SILENT ON FLOODS PROJECT

Statement On Water Is Being Prepared, Say Supervisors

With a movement already on foot to conserve the $6,574,000 federal allocation for Orange county's flood control project, the board of supervisors, after an executive session this morning, declined any comment today.

The allocation had been made in connection with the proposed conservation and flood control program in which the county was called upon to provide $6,620,000 through a bond issue.

While 62 per cent of the vote last Friday favored the bond issue, it failed to receive a required two-thirds majority.

Members of the board of supervisors announced, following the executive session, that a statement relative to the bond issue and the project is being prepared but will not be released until tomorrow when all members of the board are present. Supervisor N. E. West of the fifth district was absent today.

Board members said that they had not discussed the proposal of Hamilton H. Cotton that an effort be made to preserve the grant and add to it sufficient funds to build the dam on the upper Prado site in Santa Ana river. Money for the county's share would have to be raised by direct taxation.

The supervisors this afternoon were to canvass the vote cast in last Friday's election.

Burglar Beats Girl Here After 2 Robbery Attempts

Santa Ana police today are searching for a burglar who Saturday night entered the home of C. M. Featherly, 1916 North Ross street, and attacked his stepdaughter, Miss Betty Smith, beating her about the head with his fists. The burglar is believed to be the same who entered the home of Dr. C. E. Otwell, 521 West Nineteenth street.

As Miss Smith was preparing to retire, she heard a noise in her mother's bedroom. Knowing that her mother was in San Diego, Miss Smith opened the bedroom door and found that the lights had been burning. As she opened the door of a closet in the room the man leaped out and commenced to

Cochrane Makes Winning Run On Goose's Bingle In Ninth Inning

NAVIN FIELD, Detroit, Oct. 7. (AP)—Detroit's Tigers won their first world baseball championship today, beating the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 3, in the deciding sixth game, a slugging duel with the lead changing a half dozen times before a howling, thrill soaked crowd of 48,420. The Tigers won the series by four games to two as the veteran Goose Goslin's single drove home Mickey Cochrane with the deciding run in the ninth inning.

The tide shifted back and forth, finally settling with the dogged Tigers as Larry French, Chicago southpaw, and Tommy Bridges, curve ball right hander, who had already pitched one victory, locked in the deciding duel under almost perfect weather conditions, and before the greatest crowd in Detroit's baseball history.

The issue was always in doubt up to the ninth, and starting that inning the Cubs had a tremendous chance to break the tie themselves and force the series into a final seventh game tomorrow.

League Council Blocks Italy's Move For Time And Orders Public Trial

GENEVA, Oct. 7.—The League of Nations' council today adopted a report declaring Italy had "resorted to war in disregard of its covenants."

GENEVA, Oct. 7.—The League of Nations' council today blocked an Italian maneuver for time and ordered a public session to decide officially whether Italy has "resorted to war in disregard of its covenants."

This allegation, presented by the council "big six" committee, was approved by the "committee of 13," which represents every nation except Italy which is a council member.

All that remained on the subject was a public session of the complete council to vote on the committee report. The Italians asked postponement of a public session for more time to study the report.

Dr. D. D. Waynick of Anaheim said today that he had no knowledge of the case in which the Anaheim Citrus Fruit association was charged with selling granulated oranges last Thursday, until after the matter had been disposed of in the Anaheim justice court. The Journal's story of the case on Friday left the impression that Dr. Waynick was head of the association and appeared personally in court. He is not now head of the organization, but a director, and was unaware of the court action until after it took place.

COUNCIL TO HEAR 'GOOD NEWS' OF ROAD EXTENSION TONIGHT

PROJECT HAS BACKING BY ROAD UNIT

U. S. Bureau Sends Word To Council; Federal Grant Is $23,000

Meeting tonight for the first time in three weeks, the city council will hear good news—news that a $38,000 project for widening south Main street has been recommended for approval by the United States bureau of public works.

The federal grant will be approximately $23,000, while the city will be asked to furnish $15,542 from its one-quarter cent allocation of state gas tax funds. The project calls for widening South Main street to a four-lane highway between Fairview street and Delhi road.

One of Four Cities

News of the approval of the project came in a letter to the city council from S. V. Cortelyou, district engineer for the state division of highways. The letter said that Santa Ana was one of four cities out of 62 in the seventh highway district of the state which had been fortunate enough to have its project approved, and that the federal allocation is twice what it had been hoped to secure.

The federal government allotted $7,000,000 to the state of California for highway work, with the proviso that 25 per cent of the money should be spent on state highways within cities. The allotment is part of the government's farm to market road program.

Ask for Motion

Tonight the city council will be asked by Mr. Cortelyou's letter to adopt a resolution instructing the state to set aside $15,542 from its gas tax apportionment, to provide the city's share of the financing.

The widening program calls for making the expansion on the west side of Main street, changing the maximum width between Fairview and Delhi roads 60 feet.

The council has not met for three weeks because of the fact that five Mondays fell in September. The council meets only twice per month.

top of another hill," said Bill Hoar, assistant manager for the company.

"We have been unable to determine the exact cause of the accident. The weather was excellent and it appeared Collison had good flying speed."

Ship Hit Peak

"There was no fire, but apparently the entire crew and all the passengers were killed when the plane hit the second time."

"The ground is level except for a few small hills. The ship apparently struck one of these right at the peak."

The plane was the company's regular eastbound plane No. 4 from Oakland, Cal., to New York City.

Collison was one of the veterans of the airmail service. He flew in the open cockpit days on the transmountain run when airmail operations were in charge of the government.

He led the search for the ill-fated United Airlines ship that crashed in the Wasatch mountains 18 miles west of Salt Lake City, in a storm in March, 1934. Before today's tragedy, that was the only serious accident the line had experienced.

Besides Pilot Collison and co-pilot and stewardess, United Air Line officials announced the following nine passengers were killed:

G. H. Miner, Park Lane hotel, Chicago.

C. H. Matthews, Jr., Pittsburgh.

J. Cushing, Los Angeles.

Roy R. Baine, en route from Salt Lake City to Chicago.

Vincent Butler, Oakland.

Miss Juliet Hillman, Pittsburgh.

Walter B. Crandall, Associated Oil company, San Francisco.

Heleen Warren, a company employee, Chicago.

Mrs. Cathcart, Portland, Ore.

The cause of the accident cannot be determined, company officials said, until the department of commerce completes its investigation.

Collison, a veteran pilot, apparently had started down from high altitudes in ideal weather with his twin motored Boeing liner, preparatory to a scheduled stop here, when he struck the top of one hill, lost his propeller and plummeted against another hillside.

Did Not Burn

The plane smashed about 2:15 a. m. Mountain Standard Time. It was torn and twisted but did not catch fire. After a regular stop at Salt Lake City just before last midnight the cross-country liner had reported its progress by radio and asked ground wind information just five minutes flying time west of Cheyenne.

The crumpled wreckage was found by a fleet of searchers dispatched from here near dawn just as another band of airmen took off from Salt Lake City to seek a Standard Oil company transport ship missing since Sunday in the briny area of Great Salt Lake with three persons aboard.

Collison, a former army airman and a mail flier since 1921, won his sobriquet for careful piloting. He held many speed records of the early days of mail flying, having participated in the flight of half a ton of mail from San Francisco to Chicago with four other pilots in 13 hours and 38 minutes, maintaining an average speed of 141 miles per hour.

Over a roughly made trail, by auto and motorcycle, Coroner Paul Worland and 200 soldiers from Fort Warren, Wyo., were dispatched to the scene of the disaster.

Before prying apart the wreckage of the giant, silver-hued airliner, a representative of the department of commerce, stationed at the Cheyenne airdrome, was hastily summoned. The soldiers formed a tight circle about the debris.

The nearest habitation to the scene is a pumping station for the city of Cheyenne where perhaps half a dozen persons live.

The airliner left Oakland, Cal., last night at 6:25 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, and was due to arrive in New York at 2:15 p. m. E. S. T., today.

transit. Two to three weeks are required for fruit to reach the consumer. Therefore, oranges which were free from granulation at the time of shipment may develop it later."

Is Serious Problem

Dr. Waynick outlined the granulation fruit situation today as a serious problem. It was discussed by the board of directors of the California Fruit Growers exchange two weeks ago, and there is to be a meeting this week with directors of the citrus experiment station at Riverside to develop further studies of factors influencing granulation, Dr. Waynick said.

Dr. Waynick said that detection of granulation fruit has been difficult this year because it appeared in two forms, that known as the stem end type and that called the blossom end type. The stem end form is the more usual one and is recognized when a spot on the stem end of the orange turns green. In the blossom end type there is no change of color and detection is possible only by cutting the fruit, said Dr. Waynick.

Furthermore, different parts of the same grove may show varying extents of granulation or none at all. Entire carloads of fruit have been cut open in Orange county this year in an attempt to prevent packing or shipping of granulated fruit, said Dr. Waynick.

Dr. Waynick said there has been a fine spirit of cooperation between county inspectors and packing houses because the industry realizes how important it is to eliminate such fruit.

"I don't think there has been any attempt to actually move fruit that has not met requirements," said Dr. Waynick. "But we must develop more accurate methods of determining or discovering granulation, and this work is being actively followed up."

COPRA MARKET AIDED BY WAR

PAPEETE, Tahiti, Oct. 7. (AP)—Recent quick rises and declines in prices offered here for copra have been so coincident with tension or relief in European affairs that the South Sea islanders look upon the market as a barometer of the international situation.

The reason is that copra oil is one of the most valuable sources of glycerin, the basis of most high explosives.

When manufacture of munitions is speeded up, the bidding on the local market quickens. When things quiet down a bit, the buying slackens. Hence newspaper reports of the sayings and doings of European statesmen are interpreted in the light of market fluctuations.

BELGIUM'S PROFITS IN REVALUED GOLD COMBAT DISTRESS

BRUSSELS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Belgium will spend $100,000,000 within three years to combat unemployment through a program of public works, working camps and credit assistance to young married couples.

The funds represent the benefit derived by the National Bank of Belgium from revaluation of its gold stock in terms of the depreciated Belgian franc.

The money has been held for emergency use in supporting the market in Belgian francs and state debentures, but now is considered available for direct relief.

Working camps for unemployed youths will resemble those of America's CCC. Several camps already operating under supervision of the Catholic church and the socialist party will be taken over by the government.

erance of all trade or financial relations.

Follow "Big Six"

The committee of 13 was taking action on a report submitted by the council's "Big Six" committee composed of Great Britain, France, Portugal, Rumania, Denmark and Chile.

The big six reported they had "arrived at the conclusion that the government of Italy has resorted to war in violation of Article XII."

The committee of 13, in adopting this conclusion, modified the wording slightly to adhere closely to the text at the beginning of Article XVI of the covenant.

League officials said this change did not weaken the report of the smaller committee.

It was stated that under present plans, the league assembly, when it meets Wednesday, will be asked to coordinate the economic and financial sanctions automatically called for against Italy.

Officials said they believed an early effort would be made to obtain some form of collaboration with the United States and other nations which are not members of the league so that any sanctions would be entirely effective.

President Helps League

These officials said they considered President Roosevelt's statement helpful in this respect since it seemed to indicate that the United States would have no business relations whatever with either Italy or Ethiopia.

One dramatic feature of the Big Six committee's report was a reference to the Briand-Kellogg pact, outlawing war as an instrument of national policy.

The report emphasized that both Italy and Ethiopia were signatories to the pact, which condemns resort to force as a means of settling international differences and obliges its signatories to settle their quarrels by pacific means.

Information from league circles was that Premier Laval of France proposed to Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy immediate acceptance by Premier Mussolini of an immediate cessation of hostilities and creation of a neutral zone in Ethiopia.

The Geneva atmosphere was filled with echoes of reports from Addis Ababa that Italy, having wiped out the stain of the Aduwa defeat of 1896 by taking the city yesterday, was now disposed to talk peace with Emperor Haile Selassie.

An Italian spokesman, however, said he had no information on the subject.

Sources close to the Ethiopian delegation said Ethiopia was planning to insist that any armistice should be accompanied by complete withdrawal of all Italian troops from the east African empire.

now is being repaired. Haile Selassie will be accompanied by Ras Mulugeta, the most distinguished Ethiopian general, who, in 1930, saved the present emperor from Ras Gukasa of Wollo Galla when that prince raised a rebellion and attempted to seize the throne.

Ethiopians said that within two weeks the emperor would have in his command a total of 600,000 well armed warriors plus 400,000 variously armed men.

The members of the Swedish military mission have resigned their commissions in the Swedish lassic.

Rasidesta Dantou, the son-in-law of the emperor, is leaving for Addis Ababa tomorrow.

Dadjamatch Bayame Merid, another son-in-law of the emperor, with 40,000 men, is to cooperate with Desta Dantou in Ogaden.

Ras Emrou, the emperor's cousin, with his 100,000 men has been ordered to remain in reserve in Gojjam province.

The government today admitted officially that the Italians occupied Aduwa and Adigrat yesterday, saying that the occupation was accomplished without resistance.

It was stated that the evacuation of these two towns was made in an orderly manner according to a prearranged plan and that the Ethiopians now were stationed outside these points.

A government official said that the occupation of Aduwa had no military significance and that in accordance with a long standing plan, the Ethiopians intended to make their main stand in mountain positions which they consider impregnable 40 miles south of Aduwa.

The Ethiopians themselves did not appear greatly impressed by the Aduwa occupation since the village is mainly of mud construction and with only sentimental and historical importance.

Mussolini's Trial Balloon

The impression was growing in the capital that the warfare was a trial balloon being sent up by Premier Mussolini.

Ethiopian sources said they would consider peace only when they knew Mussolini's terms.

The emperor conferred all day with his highest chiefs and government officials.

An unofficial and entirely unconfirmed report circulated, meanwhile, that Ethiopians had recaptured Aduwa after a bitter counter-attack, taking five Italian officers as prisoners.

Italy's southern force was said to be advancing along the Dolo frontier from Italian Somaliland, but the government announced that it had no knowledge of the reported Ogaden province offensive.

Although defending the boundaries of his empire against Italy, the emperor still considered the League of Nations the only agency competent to settle the conflict.

While some Ethiopians insisted Aduwa had been recaptured, the Italian legion, on the strength of news from Rome, celebrated the fall of the city.

The Italian minister thanked the emperor for the safe arrival and considerate treatment of consular officials from Debra Markos and Dessay, saying not a single unpleasant incident had occurred while they were en route to the capital.

ADUWA SPENDS SLEEPLESS NIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Exchange Telegraph correspondent with the Italian forces in the Northern Ethiopian area reported today that Aduwa spent a sleepless night.

His dispatch said Ethiopian irregulars in the hills were subjected yesterday afternoon to merciless bombing from the air and machine gun fire from the Italians.

He reported incessant sniping during the night by surviving tribesmen, but few casualties.

MORE ABOUT ROBBERY

11:20 p. m. on the same night, a man, believed to be the same person who entered the Fatherly home, entered the home of Dr. Olwiler, Miss Louise Tripp, a resident in the Olwiler home, also heard a noise in one of the bedrooms and investigated. However, she did not see anything out of the ordinary, and returned to the front of the house. When she retired later, she found that the room had been ransacked.

Earlier in the evening, a pipe and a bottle of deoderant had been stolen from a car belonging to Sidney Russell, 1214 North Broadway. The bottle of deoderant was found outside of the window through which the burglar had gained entrance to the Olwiler home.

In both burglaries entrance had been gained by removing a screen from a rear window.

Police said the burglar had failed to get anything from either of the two homes. Miss Smith suffered chiefly from shock and bruises.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

ANAHEIM looks as if residents were celebrating a county fair, a rodeo and old-home week.

The town's all decorated with flags for the Odd Fellows' convention, which opened with a big bang today. For the better part of the week the place is going to be swarming with I. O. O. F. delegates, and they've planned a real week for 'em.

Then, merchants are warming up for the annual Halloween celebration by growing beards, sideburns and mustaches. In connection with the beard-growing, one of my favorites in the contest, Abe Cone, withdrew from competition yesterday. He overtrained, and his beard, we hear, became so luxuriant that he had to remove it. Itched, he said. He double-crossed me, as I was betting on him to win.

And, to top off those two types of decoration, the police department members are sporting their fancy new uniforms. They're the most dressed-up cops we've ever seen, and they're proud of their new clothes. Don't blame 'em. The uniforms are dark blue, or at least, they looked that color to us. All the necessary gadgets, like gun holsters, Sam Brown belts, and such things, are black. They have tailored leather coats for outdoor wear, and to top it all off, each member of the force has stars and stripes and such things on his sleeves and other convenient places, denoting the number of years he's served. Something like you'd put notches on a gun.

THE POLICE and firemen in Anaheim should have their pet cat. We remember last spring when they adopted their pet, then a scrawny, ill-kept beast, which was headed for the pound.

She endeared herself to members of the two departments by clawing and biting everyone in sight, so was retained as their official mascot.

Now she's become fat and manly on scraps which her foster-parents bring from their homes.

Wonder how she'd get along with the pet chicken that adopted Fire Chief Roy Davis in Fullerton?

CHRISTMAS comes on the 25th of December in most places, but they're about ready to start celebrating in Huntington Beach already.

Right now, they're planning for decorations to make their community a thing of beauty during the Christmas holidays. For the past two years they've won the Coast association award for the best-decorated city on the coastline. Other towns had better watch out!

They're going to put two big arches over the Coast highway and decorate 'em. Lights along the highway and in the business district are going to form one of the most pretentious displays ever attempted by residents. Looks like a tough time for other coast cities.

W. R. Osborn is chairman of the chamber of commerce committee planning arrangements.

EACH CHRISTMAS the plan, originated by Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa, becomes more popular. The activity is sponsored by the Coast association, with the good doctor in charge. Imagine that we'll hear from him soon regarding plans for this season.

We do know that prizes will be offered for the best decorated homes, service stations, business houses and communities along the coast.

THE WEEK'S best chuckle comes from Bert Maxwell's Coastline Dispatch at San Juan Capistrano. His article speaks for itself:

"Speaking of embarrassing moments, an editor has one occasionally that makes him feel small enough to crawl through the proverbial needle-eye. In reporting a hunting trip made by four citizens this paper last week said 'Mrs. So-and-So' and three men had returned with three deer, etc., when it should have read 'Messrs.' So-and-So. Fortunately, the good lady whose name was thus inadvertently used had a sense of humor and the compositor and proof reader escaped being horsewhipped."

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Watch the details of your dress is fashion's command this season—it's the detail that makes it! You can be certain that your choice is good if you select one of these lovely crocheted collars. And if you've a gift to present, let your crocheted hook work magic. The collar at the top is striking in its openwork design with the graceful jabot adding that feminine touch that's so important. It and the bottom one are made in cotton; the latter is the sort you'll have done in no time. And isn't the pert bow smart? For the center one, use petit boucle—it's the sort of collar you can wear opening in front or back, as the mood strikes you.

In pattern 5441 you will find complete instructions for making the collars shown; an illustration of them and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal Household Arts Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Cal.

WHAT'S THIS? 'REVOLT' AMONG WRESTLERS?

Henry A. (Hank) Clauson, two-bit variety of middleweight wrestler, throws some dirt at his profession in a "literary" article for a Sunday newspaper of recent vintage.

"I have wrestled in 1132 bouts," he declares, "and two of them were on the level."

"The first time was my first bout when I lost my head and forgot my instructions—I felled my opponent when he was scheduled to win. The other time was when I was wrestling a contortionist and he forgot instructions."

Mr. Clauson, who was a very poor type of preliminary performer when we last saw him, goes on rather hastily to explain that he is a great deal different from most wrestlers in that he can read and write. In fact, he goes so far as to class himself as an "intellectual" and announces he will soon abandon the mats for a career of authoring.

Aside from failing in his attempt to be melodramatic, Mr. Clauson fails to dig up any great secrets about his profession. He gave all the appearances of a man yanking the cover off a statue that the people have not only seen, but tolerated for several years.

Probably Mr. Clauson was mad at the game—perhaps he hasn't had what he considers a fair share of looking lately. Probably he could use the cash he probably got for his "revelation." In any event he duped the editor of that Sunday magazine supplement when he sold them that story.

If the editor had wanted a true "inside" story of the mat boys he should have called for the confessions of Man Mountain Dean and some others.

That would have made nice reading, parallel no doubt to the life story of Barnum and such.

What most of us who go to wrestling matches regularly have found is that those who bounce cash on the line for their ring-side seats do so with the same feeling one has when paying for a seat near the center ring at the circus.

Generally it is an exciting show with human animals jumping through the hoop for an unseen ringmaster. Bouts seldom lack color and likely make up for honesty in action—or so most of us feel.

In short, they give what the customers come to see. And that's enough for any American audience.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH: Californians are looking longingly at Santa Ana's Floyd Bivens to sparkling to victory in important amateur event.

Coach Allison thinks Larry Lutz, another S. A. lad, has fine chances for top honors this year. Too heavy by 25 pounds, Lutz lost almost certain all-American recognition in 1934 after a fine 1933. He's down to 210 now, and an outstanding tackle.

Tex Harris, who played first class football for both the Saints and Dons here, was a visitor at the Berkeley campus last week. Harris is an end on the UCLA eleven, was sent to S. F. for special treatment; he sidetracked, played touch football with the northern rowdies Tuesday and emerged with a cut eye and skinned nose but was able to get on board the train for Oregon as the Bruins went on to play and defeat Oregon State.

SPRAGUE WINS GOLF CROWN

Clarence Sprague, young attorney, won the 20-30 club's annual golf tournament with a card of 90-22-68 at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday. Dick Ewert was second, 75-5-70; and John Lutz third, 90-18-72.

In the regular weekly events over the Newport boulevard course, W. H. Spurgeon triumphed in blind-hoggy with a score of 86-13-73. R. A. Emison scored an 80-12-68 to win medal play from L. W. Bemis, 80-9-71, and H. L. Miller, 84-13-71. Miss Nan Mead and M. B. Lacy captured mixed foursome play with a 93-18-75. Other winners were Mrs. E. H. Guthrie and Dean Campbell, 92-16-76, and Mrs. Jack Colburn and B. W. McClure, 91-15-76, in a field of 30 entries. The ladies' team of the Santa Ana Country club was competing at Hacienda today.

COOK SCOUTS BENGALS AT RIVERSIDE

Saints Prepare For Brush With Santa Barbara; Scrimmage Anaheim

Fresh from a 25-7 victory over U. C. L. A.'s freshmen, Riverside Junior college's Southern California football champions come to town Friday night to open their Eastern conference season with Santa Ana's Dons.

Coach Bill Cook, who saw his Santa Ana's smothered by the line-wrecking U. S. C. freshmen 30-0 at the Municipal bowl Friday night, "sat in" on the Riverside-U. C. L. A. struggle for three quarters. He was impressed by the unquestionable strength of the Bengals, but thought the freshmen from Westwood were too disorganized to reveal how Riverside will go against his Dons.

"Merle Harris is better than last fall," said Cook of Riverside's all-conference quarterback, known as "Snake-Hips" to the Bengal noters. Twelve pounds heavier, he is a threat every time he receives the ball. Cook also was impressed by the work of the Riverside ends, particularly six-four Ben Thompson at the left terminal.

The Dons began four days of vigorous training at the Flower street stadium today for their opening bout, the most severe of their conference campaign.

End Play Weak

The massed line of the Trojans uncovered weaknesses in the Santa Ana forward wall which must be smoothed out this week. End play was particularly weak. The backs showed a weakness on passes, and the quarterbacking of Joe Herbert was a disappointment. Herbert has shown in earlier tests that he is of first-string caliber, however, and Cook expects him to snap out of his slump against Riverside.

SAINTS DRILL FOR SANTA BARBARA

Unsuccessful in their first stand away from home against Inglewood 7-2, Santa Ana's Saints hit the road for another engagement at Santa Barbara Saturday afternoon.

They will scrimmage Anaheim at Polyfield tomorrow.

Clarence Schutts' northern eleven defeated Bill Foote's preps, 14-12, in a thriller at Santa Barbara two seasons ago.

FRANK HERRERA IS OFF CARD

Frankie Herrera, the Los Alamitos Mexican light-heavyweight, is the latest fighter in the annals of sidestep Bud Holzhauser, the "Blond Bomber" of Long Beach. Herrera today turned down a meeting with Holzhauser scheduled for Thursday night at the Orange County Athletic club, thereby forcing officials to look elsewhere for an opponent.

Pop Andre has offered Sailor Hipps a crack at Holzhauser an expects a definite answer late today.

Wetherell, Wood Win 1935 Doubles Crown

Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana, and Miss Katherine Wood, Fullerton, were sporting the mixed doubles championship of Orange county today.

The young couple, swinging mean racquets, wrested the crown from Miss Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, onetime fifth-ranking women's star in America, and her petite partner, Johnny Cress of Santa Ana. The score was 6-4, 6-4.

Wetherell and Miss Wood advanced to the finals by eliminating Mrs. Gilmore Ward and Toby White, 6-4, 12-10; and Lampman and Tobin of Anaheim, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Marjorie Lauderbach and Kenneth Ranney of Santa Ana defeated Miss Mary Jane Belcher and Harold Lewis of Santa Ana, 6-3, 6-0, but later lost to Miss Cruickshank and Cress, 6-4, 8-6. MAX BAER TURNS FARMER

Milks Cows, Picks Oranges

ROSEVILLE, Calif., Oct. 7. (P)—The rolling, tree-furrowed hills of the Sacramento valley caught the eye today of Max Baer's laughing voice, and he said that from now on he would be there every day to call at the dawn—or shortly thereafter—the cows from afar.

The ex-heavyweight champion said he had added another "ex" to his sobriquet of playboy, night club prince, and slinger. It was "ex-fighter."

Henceforth, he is just Max A. Baer, cattle raiser. The ranch which he left months ago for the bright lights of New York welcomed him home today just as plainly as it did "Flick," the female Great Dane which someone gave to Max on his last trip to what he says was his fistic oblivion.

Old Dan dropped a wheel barrow and opened the gate and "Flick," who saw Max but once before he planked down $80 to a railroad company and shipped her West, high-tailed it to the other side of the house.

Baer Begins Joking

"That dog sure do eat," were Dan's words of greeting.

"As much as my seven ex-managers?" shot back Smiling Maxie.

Dan said "More."

Max climbed out of the long, gray seed-wagon which carried him here—symbol of other more glorious days—and swelled his chest.

"From now on you'll find me here," he predicted.

"Tell the Broadway boys that just about the time they're getting home from the hangovers I'll be getting up to milk the cows."

Max Can Milk

"Oh, yeah," somebody cracked, whereupon Max, in imperturbable good humor, wrangled up a placid-looking Jersey and proceeded to give the new Baer homestead a fresh supply of milk. There were none who doubted he could milk.

BRUINS FACE INDIANS AT PALO ALTO

Illinois Eleven Comes To Los Angeles For Game With Troy

By RUSSELL NEWLAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (P)—Piekin cohorts of the far west counted casualties today and assembled for fresh practice assaults leading to big games of the week-end.

The football program will bring four Pacific Coast conference members, who have not yet seen championship action, into the race.

Stanford, winner of the conference title the last two seasons, will make its opening bid to retain the laurels against the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins.

The fighting Bruins proved their worth by whipping Oregon State college, 20 to 7, last Saturday in a conference game that saw them come from behind in the third period. Stanford won from University of San Francisco without the services of its All-American fullback, Bobby Grayson, and Halfback "Bones" Hamilton.

Whether Grayson's injured ankle will permit him to play will not be known until later in the week.

Oregon Faces Bears

Fresh from a 10-to-1 upset triumph over a formidable St. Mary's eleven, University of Oregon collides with California's Bears at West, high-tailed it to the other side of the house.

One of the highlights of the day's schedule will bring Illinois to Los Angeles for a battle with Southern California, the latter thus far unimpressive in its play.

Last Saturday Southern California was forced to put on a desperate passing attack to win, 19 to 7, from College of the Pacific after Amos Alonzo Stagg's team had led, 7 to 6, going into the final quarter.

Bears Play Gonzaga

Oregon State takes on Gonzaga, the latter conqueror of Idaho, 7 to 6, last week in a stirring upset. Idaho plays Whitman. Of the conference members, Washington alone remains idle after turning predictions topsy-turvy last Saturday by beating Santa Clara, 13 to 6.

Among the independents not meeting conference teams, St. Mary's will fight it out with College of Pacific; Santa Clara will move in on Fresno State college; San Francisco will face Nevada; Loyola will take on Arizona State; and Whittier will seek to stop University of Arizona.

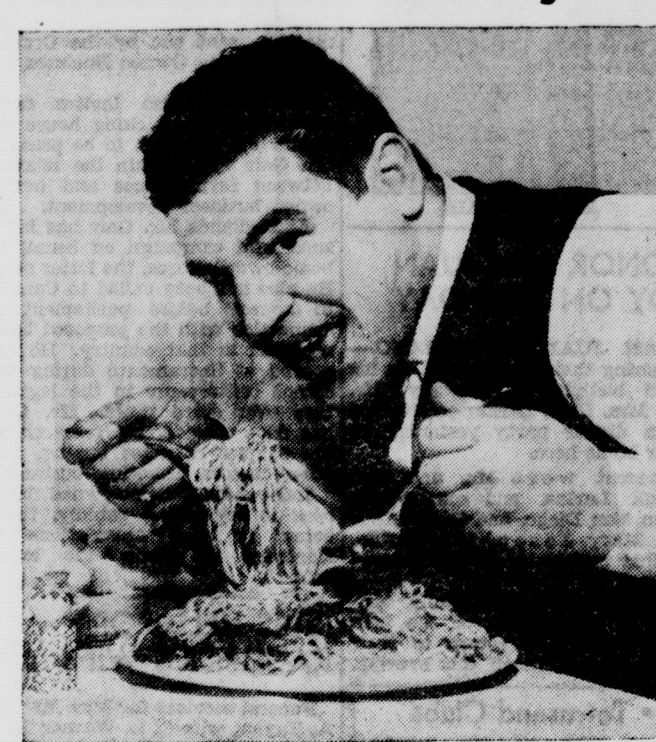

tion on the Zuppemmen's triumph over Washington university, Coach Howard Jones dropped his usual role of taciturnity to dub his new sophomore quarterback, Nick Pappas, the "inspiration" of Southern California's victory over College of the Pacific.

Warneke Is Game

"He didn't say a thing to me," Hartnett revealed, "but when I saw that pitch to Gehring, I knew something was wrong. I asked him about it and he admitted his arm was aching. His act of pitching three full innings with an arm that ached like a toothache was one of the gamest acts I ever heard of in baseball."

Manager Charlie Grimm expressed great concern over the sore arm of his ace. Should French win today, he is anxious to have Warneke take the mound in the seventh and deciding game to clinch the world's champion-

CALIFORNIA STARS ANNEX COAST TENNIS CROWNS

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 7. (P)—Two Pacific coast tennis titles, held in England for the past year, today were back in California, clutched firmly in the capable hands of two Californians, flaming haired Don Budge of Oakland and tiny Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold of Los Angeles.

Budge brought back the men's singles crown Fred Perry, world's No. 1 player, took to England with him last year by whipping 17-year-old Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles 6-2, 6-0, 7-9, 6-4.

Mrs. Arnold, scoring a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, succeeded Kay Stammers, English Wimbledon cup star, as the holder of the Pacific coast women's singles championship.

DETROIT, Oct. 7. (P)—A pair of arms, a left that was rested but uncertain and a great right that ached with pain, held the hopes of the Chicago Cubs today as they courageously fought against "sudden death" in world series warfare.

The strong left arm was that of Larry French, the Cub's "iron man" who was given the big assignment of beating the Detroit Tigers and squaring the series at three all today. The other, the arm that has won the team's two victories, was the bumpy whip right of Lonnie Warneke, who appeared all but definitely through in the fight for gold and baseball glory.

Warneke's chance of pitching the seventh game of the series, which the formidable French delivered today, was next to hopeless. His right arm ached from the pain of a pulled muscle near the shoulder and, although trainer Andy Lotshaw worked over him feverishly, he appeared definitely through with the big show.

The pitching pride of the Cubs exhibited his gameness yesterday when he pitched three full innings in stoical silence despite his injury. It was revealed as the Cub special speed on to Detroit. He strained a muscle in the third inning as he pitched a snap curve to his Tiger mound rival, Schoolboy Rowe, who didn't utter a word of complaint to his mates. Not until he pitched a weak one to Charlie Gehring in the sixth did any one else know. It was then that Catcher Gabby Hartnett realized that Lon's arm had gone limp and signalled the bench for relief.

Warneke Is Game

"He didn't say a thing to me," Hartnett revealed, "but when I saw that pitch to Gehring, I knew something was wrong. I asked him about it and he admitted his arm was aching. His act of pitching three full innings with an arm that ached like a toothache was one of the gamest acts I ever heard of in baseball."

MAT FEATURE IS BETWEEN GENTLEMEN

Al Bisignano And Ivan Mannagoff Headline Card at O. C. Arena

By FRANK ROGERS

Rally around, all you wrestling fans who think you like the "old-fashioned" variety better than the modern malarkey. Tonight at Sam Sampson's weekly wrestling extravaganza two of the exponents of the pure and complicated bone-bending procedures will perform.

Al Bisignano, new idol of Italians, and Ivan Mannagoff, the rugged Russian, are billed for a two out of three falls to-a-finish battle.

Mannagoff is the big brute who was having a lot of fun slugging Man Mountain Dean from ring post to ring post a few weeks ago when Mama Man Mountain Dean went into the fray to save her meat ticket from too many punches.

Ordinarily Mr. Mannagoff is a very nice fellow and doesn't resort to such tactics. He just wrestles sans the flying tackles, elbow nudges and abracadabra displayed by most of the boys. He knows all the painfully nice holds of the game and how to apply them.

Bisignano, while fiery on occasions, is generally known because he concentrates on wrestling properly.

Bisignano made his debut and a big hit here last week by subduing Fred (Roughhouse) Carone, another son of Italy.

Casey Kazanjian, ex-grid star from Stanford, and Pat Fraley, the lad who opened wrestling's comeback in Orange county several months ago, square off in the semi-final, while Jumbo Jacobs, the 350-pound mama's boy, meets Harry (Tarzan) Elklizan. Joe Valdez and Hugo Clapham open the performance.

With the exception of the Jacobs-Elklizan thing, this card is the same one billed for Wednesday night at Lou Daro's Olympic (House of Horrors) auditorium in Los Angeles, where 10,000 cash customers gather weekly.

ESPINOSA WINS GOLF CROWN

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 7. (P)—Al Espinosa, the Akron veteran of several golfing wars, is heading down the professional golf circuit $1000 richer for his victory in the Indianapolis open tournament. He led the field of shot-makers with a total of 288 for the 72 holes, which ended Sunday.

The gallery fans still were talking today, however, about the scorching 65 on the final round by Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., stamped from far down the list into a tie for second place at 290 with Ky Laffoon of Ravinia, Ill., the half-way leader, and Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh.

NEWPORT SLOOP IS RACE WINNER

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 7. (P)—Leading her team, the "Whites" to a pair of victories, the sloop Synnove of Newport was sailed to victory by Al Rogers in the annual team-race championship series which concluded here Sunday.

The series was staged to prepare sailors for anticipated invasion of an Atlantic coast and a Danish team, for a post-series of races after the forthcoming 10th National Midwinter Sailing regatta.

the right side. Bridges will have a tough time with him today, as he throws just like George Earnshaw. George never saw the time he could get Klein out."

BOY GUNMEN HOME-OWNED STORE OWNERS KIDNAP 5 IN NORTH TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Young Pair Blaze Trail Of Robbery, Abduction Over Week End

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 7. (AP)—Police scoured this section today for two young gunmen who blazed a kidnap robbery trail from Los Angeles to Stockton over the week-end.

Five persons, one of them a woman, were forced into the pair's stolen automobile in their wild dash northward. All were released and the car abandoned at Stockton.

First Victim
The first victim was Kenneth Milster, Long Beach cosmetic salesman, who was held up in Los Angeles Saturday night. The robbers forced him to drive them out of town in his car.

They stopped for gasoline in Hollywood and Fred Banks, the attendant, was robbed and nudged into the machine beside Milster. A few miles further out Banks was taken from the car, bound with clothesline and tied to a tree. He later freed himself.

With Milster still in the car, the gunmen hurried on through the night to Bakersfield and again stopped for gas.

Two More Passengers
Tom Eggert, the attendant, after fueling the car, was held up and his cash drawer emptied of a small sum of money. While this was going on Charles Young, Eggert's relief man, drove up with his wife, Eggert and the Youngs were pushed into the car and the flight resumed.

Everyone except Milster was released at Salida, eight miles north of Modesto, and he was carried on to Stockton, where the trail ended.

The robbers were described as 20 or 21 years old, of medium build. One was called "Jack."

JEWISH NEW YEAR'S DAY NOTED BY SANTA ANANS

Members of Santa Ana Jewry are in Los Angeles and Long Beach today observing Yom Kippur or Day of Atonement, marking the last of 10 pious days which started Sept. 28 with celebration of Rosh Hashanah or Jewish New Year.

Because there are approximately only 30 Jewish families living in Santa Ana it has been impossible to establish a temple here.

Yom Kippur, starting at sunset yesterday and ending at sundown today is the time when Jewish people the world over ask the Lord for forgiveness of their sins and promise obedience during the new year.

Dentist 'Claims' Part Of Ocean Off Laguna Beach
LONG BEACH, Oct. 7. (AP)—By "right of discovery and priority," Dr. Olin S. Proctor, Long Beach dentist, claims ownership to some 72 square miles of the Pacific ocean.

The dentist has just completed publication of his "claim" in a local newspaper, declaring it applies "to full property rights of natural resources and the industrial, economic and business possibilities of location."

The land in question is located between Laguna Beach and San Clemente island. Dr. Proctor hasn't disclosed the purpose of his claim.

A county-wide meeting of representatives of home-owned stores will take place tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in Veterans' hall, 313 North Birch street, sponsored by the Orange County Home Owned Business association. Milton Gair, Redlands clothing merchant and leader in the movement to foster development of home-owned stores, will address the gathering.

In his talk Mr. Gair will attempt to show how organized effort among the home-owned stores has reacted to their advantage.

J. O. Smith, secretary of the Santa Monica Home Owned Business association, will tell of the experience of that organization, which has resulted in increased business for merchants there, according to a letter announcing the meeting, sent out by the Orange County Home Owned Business association.

The letter also invites farm bureau leaders, packing house officials and ranchers to be present. Mr. Gair will explain the relation between farm prices and home-owned business development.

At Redlands Mr. Gair has led a successful campaign on behalf of home-owned stores, the letter says. He also has been called to Canada to appear before parliament in connection with the proposed business tax in that country. He appeared at Sacramento during the recent controversy in the legislature over store taxes. Mr. Gair has done considerable research on the subject of mass buying, and other factors affecting business.

Independent, home-owned business is organizing rapidly, there being 52 such associations in Northern California, the letter said.

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha A. Taylor, wife of L. Warner Taylor, retired Orange county rancher, who died Thursday at her home in Glendale, were conducted Saturday from the Soven mortuary in Glendale. Burial followed at Forest Lawn Memorial park in Glendale.

Mrs. Taylor, 71, and a native of Hamilton City, Ind., had been a resident of California since 1888. She also leaves four daughters, Mrs. Nora Whittlesey, Huntington Park; Mrs. Ella McViney, Burbank; Miss Gladys Taylor, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Evelyn Davis, Glendale, and six sons, Grover Taylor, Glendale, Homer Taylor, Independence, R. In the southern district the Tustin center will work Oct. 21, 22 and 23, the Foothill center Oct. 23, 24 and 25, and the West Orange center, Oct. 17 and 18.

In the western district the Anaheim center will campaign today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The Garden Grove center will work Nov. 4 to 7 inclusive. The Cypress-Magnolia center has completed its part of the drive. Each center will have a one day clean up period after its regular campaign.

The membership department of the farm bureau is in charge of R. J. Mueller of the Foothill center.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

LASSEN COUNTY

Created April 1, 1864. The name of this county was taken from Mount Lassen, the only active volcanic peak in the United States, which was named for Peter Lassen, a native of Switzerland, one of General Fremont's guides and a famous trapper, frontiersman and Indian fighter, who was killed by the plumes at the base of this mountain in 1859.

This county has an unusual history. Barely over the stage of pioneering compared with other counties, rail lines and highways now serve various districts, the lumbering industry is one of the greatest of its kind in the west, cattle and sheep raising are very important, and Lassen is a popular vacation land. The minimum elevation of the county is 3949 feet.

Peter Lassen, rugged adventurer, Isaac Roop, first territorial governor of Nevada, and Lieutenant John C. Fremont, youthful army officer, were the early pioneers. Lassen crossed the plains from Missouri in 1839 en route to Oregon. In 1844 he settled on his grant on Deer Creek. Three years later he brought another party out from Missouri and settled in Indian Valley, Plumas county. In 1855 he went to Honey Lake Valley where he lived until he was killed by Indians in 1859. Historic Lassen records relate:

"Believing themselves to be out of California, the settlers of Honey Lake Valley fought off Plumas county officials who claimed jurisdiction over them. As a consequence Honey Lake Valley became a sort of 'No Man's Land,' harassed by savages on all sides and infested by outlaws. In 1856 the settlers, in the belief they were in western Utah, organized a territory about the size of Nevada and called it 'Nataqua.' Peter Lassen was elected surveyor and Isaac Roop recorder. Later the settlers joined those of the Carson Valley country in their efforts to organize a territory and call it Nevada. The government was slow in acting and they organized a provisional territorial government and elected a legislature and a full set of officials. Roop was named governor. Before long, however, the government organized the territory and in 1861 James W. Nye was appointed governor. Honey Lake Valley was put into Lake county, Nevada. After repeated clashes with Plumas county officials, a joint survey was made by California and Nevada and Honey Lake was found to be in Plumas county. The people of the valley asked to be set off into a new county and in 1864 the California legislature granted their request. The new county was named Lassen." Population: 12,589. Area: 4531 square miles.

NEW LAWS FOR TRUCK LIGHTS

Various changes in lighting regulations for commercial vehicles which are now in effect offer additional protection for the motoring public. It is pointed out in the following statement from the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California:

"One of the most serious phases of the traffic accident problem and one which has steadily increased," notes the auto club public safety department, "is the type of accident in which a stalled or slowly moving truck. Inadequate tail lights have most frequently been given as the cause of such accidents. In many instances the driver of the wrecked car contended that he was unable to see the truck until too late to avoid crashing into it."

"Various measures adopted by the last legislature are designed to correct this hazard. Effective Oct. 1, all heavy trucks are now required to be equipped with two tail lamps giving a red light visible for 500 feet. The same applies to all trailers drawn by trucks. In addition to two tail lights every heavy truck or trailer drawn by it must be equipped with two red reflectors to supplement the lights in case they should fail. Smaller trucks are required to have a single reflector."

"Clearance lights on trucks must now be green in color instead of blue, for greater visibility. Trucks or commercial vehicles disabled on highways at night must place flares or red lanterns or other warning lights, both 200 feet in advance of the disabled vehicle and 200 feet to the rear. Motorists observing such a warning should immediately slacken their speed, and be prepared to come to a complete stop as the light may indicate a complete blockade of the highway or a serious wreck."

G. O. P.'S PLANNING MILITANT CAMPAIGN AFTER HOOVER'S ATTACK

LLOYD BANKS SAYS G. O. P. DETERMINED

Less talk and more work. No more ballyhoo and much more party organization.

The keynote of the Republican convention at Oakland during the week-end was thus expressed today by Lloyd Banks, city auditor, who attended the convocation as the representative of the Orange county Republican central committee.

Despite their determination to rebuild quietly the party machinery, the 1300 young Republicans at Oakland were a noisy bunch when Herbert Hoover, former president, addressed them Saturday night, said Mr. Banks. The delegates at the banquet were instructed to be absolutely silent at 7:15 p. m. so a national radio hookup could be out in gear. But Mr. Hoover came in at 7:10 p. m. and the young Republicans cheered him until 7:30 p. m. Even Mr. Hoover himself was unable to stop the ovation, said Mr. Banks.

But now the Republicans are through talking. They were urged at the convention to go home and start rebuilding the party even down to precinct organization, Mr. Banks recalled. When that work is done, the Republicans may have something to say, but in the meantime, said Mr. Banks, the urgent appeal is to work.

The Oakland convocation was attended by delegates from all 11 western states and also by representatives from as far east as Michigan.

'UNREALITY' TOPIC IN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text was from Jeremiah, "What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord."

The Lesson-Sermon included these verses from Proverbs: "Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep: so shall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man." It cited also the words of Paul to the Thessalonians: "Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober."

Among the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, were these words: "Lulled by stupefying illusions, the world is asleep in the cradle of infancy, dreaming away the hours. Material sense does not unfold the facts of existence; but spiritual sense lifts human consciousness into eternal Truth."

Italians Build Barbed Wire Traps

As word came that Emperor Haile Selassie had ordered a vast concentration of native troops on the border between Ethiopia and Eritrea, Mussolini's soldiers prepared to repulse attacks by setting up barbed-wire entanglements as above. World war veterans remember the wire amid blood-red poppies, but as the sun shines in Ethiopia again, breezes convert the fields into a yellow carpet as millions of marigolds bloom. Lower right, Gen. Alessandro Pirzio-Biroli, 58-year-old desert and mountain fighter, one of the "big-six" who is leading Italian troops.

NEW DEAL IS TARGET FOR REPUBLICANS

Ex-President Charges Finance 'Juggling' By Democrats

OAKLAND, Oct. 7. (AP)—Republicans of 11 Far Western states today carried home from a "spirit of '36" rally here a militant plan of attack and a declaration of party principles for next year's campaign.

The two-fold program was adopted after former President Hoover and other party leaders had addressed the three-day convention.

Sharp criticism of the Roosevelt administration's fiscal policies was made by Mr. Hoover in his address Saturday, and in the plan of attack approved yesterday as an "indictment of the New Deal."

The convention, at the same time, put its stamp of approval on the declaration of principles, which called for a balanced national budget, and reduction of the cost of government.

Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, mentioned as a possible Republican Presidential candidate, told the gathering in a letter read by Harold A. Seaton of Kansas that "extravagance and waste in public spending" threatened the country with "destruction."

Messages were also read to the convention from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, anti-Roosevelt Democrat, and Gov. Harold Hoffman of New Jersey.

Tax On Poor

Mr. Hoover in his first talk before a political gathering since he left the White House, charged that the Roosevelt administration was attempting to meet an increasing government deficit by "juggling" figures and asserted that the eventual tax burden will fall upon the economic middle class and the poor.

He declared that unless the budget was balanced and waste eliminated "we shall see one of these three horsemen ravage the land—taxation, repudiation, or inflation."

The "indictment of the New Deal" approved by the delegates included charges that: Representative government was being destroyed "by usurpation of legislative powers" by attacks on the supreme court and by propaganda; that an "orgy of spending" was endangering the youth of the country with the future burden of taxation; that the principles of the Democratic platform had been repudiated; that "the greatest of the Republic's propaganda" was "juggling" the dollar was impairing national credit; that industrial unrest and subversive activity had been increased by recognition of a nation (apparently Russia) "whose principles call for the overthrow of representative government;" that "persons known to be antagonistic to the American form of government" had been placed in high office, and that private initiative had been "throttled."

A balanced budget and "restoration" of the balance between legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government were at the head of the declaration of principles. Others included: Solution of agricultural problems by "constitutional means; arbitration of international disputes; reaffirmation of the Republic's protective tariff policy as opposed to reciprocal tariffs; elimination of unemployment through business recovery; a "sound" currency and adequate co-ordination and regulation of the functions of banking; armed forces "adequate for national defense;" rigid enforcement of anti-trust laws, and competition in business with regulation of abuses but condemnation of "government in competition with its citizens."

TO CLOSE YORBA ESTATE? County Case Open Since 1863

Undistributed since 1863, the estate of Teodoro Yorba, who died 72 years ago, may soon be closed. Property involved is 180 acres of land in the Taylor tract, now in Orange county but formerly part of Los Angeles county, title of which must be cleared for the estate.

Saturday a petition was filed in superior court in Los Angeles county asking appointment of Lyman W. Ames as administrator of the property left by one of the heads of the Yorba family prominently identified with the history of Orange county for many years before it separated from Los Angeles.

The petition was filed by Manuel Ruiz, attorney for Alessandro Yorba, Puente, and declared that the only heirs now are Liborio Yorba and Emilia Yorba Howland. It also stated that the last administrator, A. H. Voigt, appointed in 1893, died two years ago.

SEATTLE GIRL, 7, ATTACKED AND HANGED

SEATTLE, Oct. 7. (AP)—A sadistic killer who hanged 7-year-old Sally Kelley on a garage door behind her grandmother's apartment home was sought today by police detectives, shotgun squads and volunteers.

Investigating officers said the girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Kelley, was criminally attacked before she was slain last night. Coroner Otto H. Mittelstadt and Detective Capt. Ernest Yoris, after an autopsy was performed, attributed the killing to a degenerate.

Arrest Man Captain Yoris announced that the detectives had taken into custody for questioning a 51-year-old man known to police "as a degenerate." Yoris did not disclose any details of the arrest.

Detectives had as their main clue a man's large handkerchief, which was tightly knotted around Sally's neck and lashed to a metal knob on the garage door.

The grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Coolidge, called the police after the child disappeared from a hallway in which she was playing about 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Coolidge also notified the parents.

It was not until four hours later that Patrolmen Perry Hackler and F. E. Tinsley, investigating a row of garages behind the apartment building, opened one of the doors, and the body, knees touching the ground, came into view.

Had Been Attacked

Captain Yoris said the autopsy showed she had been criminally attacked, probably elsewhere than in the garage, struck a savage blow on the head and then strangled. As Yoris tentatively reconstructed the crime, the girl was lured or snatched from the hallway, taken some distance away and then returned to the garage, possibly dead or unconscious.

While officers and volunteers swarmed through the neighborhood, searching for the slayer, the mother was kept in ignorance of her daughter's death.

Bride's Chapel Setting for Wedding of Miss Vera Levens to Alvin Reboin

Boy and Girl Romance Is Climaxed

Couple Making Home In Santa Ana; Bridegroom On Jaycee Faculty

In the presence of some 25 relatives and friends, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the bride's chapel of First Methodist church, a romance which has endured since its beginning in the Santa Ana grade schools, was happily climaxed when Miss Vera Levens, pretty blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Levens of 609 North Van Ness street, was married to Alvin Reboin, Santa Ana, by the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner solemnizing the rites.

The chapel was arranged for the occasion with quantities of white flowers, candles and potted greenery.

The bride wore a becoming outfit of deep blue crepe with blue fall felt hat and a spray of gardenias at her shoulder. She was attended by Miss Muriel Rhyno as maid of honor, wearing golden brown crepe and accessories and a corsage of yellow sweet peas and tataroses.

Joseph Preininger, U. S. C. varsity football player, attended Mr. Reboin as best man.

After a quiet wedding, the couple received their friends informally in the chapel, before leaving for a brief northern wedding trip. They returned to open their home at 609 West Second street, in time for Mr. Reboin to carry on his duties as assistant coach in the Santa Ana Junior college.

The bride, who is a graduate of Santa Ana High school, has been feted with several pre-nuptial parties.

Mr. Reboin followed his Santa Ana High school graduation by attending U. S. C. where he played varsity football and rugby and otherwise distinguished himself along athletics line. He has also played night ball with the Santa Ana Stars.

Wedding guests included Messrs. and Mesdames W. J. Levens, H. D. Pickering and family, Ferd Taylor, J. F. Hedrick and Irvin Buzzell, Messrs. Clifford Lee, Nathan Levens, Roy Levens, Alvin Grinnell and Gil Kuhn, Mrs. Harold Craig and Misses La Rene McMillan, Phyllis Haeske and Betty Hampton.

An informal tea will follow the initiation.

Autumn tones predominated in appointments for the party.

Guests included women of the two faculties and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, wife of the junior college director in Mrs. Frank Henderson, wife of the city superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Lynn Crawford, wife of the school principal.

Savage-Burns Wedding Is Lovely

In a beautiful setting of lighted ivory tapers, tall potted palms and greenery, Miss Marjorie Burns, daughter of Mrs. A. R. Burns, Laguna Beach, exchanged marriage vows with John Kenneth Savage, son of Mrs. Marie Savage, Los Angeles. The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner officiated in the presence of some 200 guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Curtis Burns, who came from Arizona, where he is studying at Arizona State college, especially to be present, wore white lace over satin. Her gown was entirely new, had long sleeves and a high neckline, she wore a fingertip veil with halo of orange blossoms, and carried a sheaf of gardenias.

Wears Spanish Rust
Mrs. Esther Rummels of Tustin, matron of honor, wore Spanish rust taffeta with large sleeves and neckline high in front and slit low in back, and carried tallman roses. Her hat was of the dress material.

Bridesmaids were Miss Viva Goff of Laguna, in blue taffeta, and Miss Valerie Sutton of San Diego, in peach taffeta. Both wore net hats and carried pastel sweet peas.

Dickie Rummels, young son of the matron of honor, was ring-bearer.

Meredith Savage of Los Angeles was his brother's best man. Joe Crafts, Tustin, and Vernon Gray, Glendale, were ushers.

Go to Palm Springs
Before the ceremony, Hugh Rummels of Tustin sang "O, Promise Me" and "At Dawning." His accompanist was Miss Ruth Armstrong, Santa Ana. Daniel Grant played the wedding march.

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rummels, Prospect and Santa Clara streets, reception was given for some 140 guests. The bride cut a tiered cake which was served with ices. The bride changed into a smart black and white silk ensemble with black accessories and gardenias, and left with her husband for the Riverside Mission Inn to stay over night. This morning they went to Palm Springs to continue their two-week wedding trip.

They will return to live in Laguna Beach, where Mr. Savage is employed by the Southern California Edison company. Mrs. Savage is a graduate of Tustin High school and attended Santa Ana Junior college. Her husband is a graduate of Glendale High school. Mrs. Savage has been feted with a long series of pre-nuptial parties. Mrs. Clarence Watkins of Laguna Beach cut the wedding cake.

Mary Stoddard When Child Outgrows Home Environment, Is It Progressive or Pathetic?

By MARY STODDARD
Mothers' hearts have been broken and fathers' spirits crushed, since civilization began, when a child decided that his folks weren't good enough for him.

Youth finds it hard to bring critical school friends home to parents whose speech shows their lack of education. Modern life gives advantages to children, their parents could not have.

School children of intellectual equality are peers on the school grounds, and a poor child finds it hard to risk a friendship by being placed on a lower financial or social level.

This problem confronts young Miss Fourteen.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am in the eighth grade where I meet lots of nice girls and have a good time during school. But at night I have to go home to a little house to eat dinner (we call it supper) in the kitchen. My father is a truck driver and although he doesn't have regular work, we always manage to get enough to eat. But he eats in his old dirty clothes. His fingernails aren't clean and he has very rough table manners. He always sticks his little finger out when he takes up a cup of coffee and thinks it's very aristocratic. The teacher at school said that was silly and affected.

I always look nice when I go to school, because my mother is good at sewing and can make me nice things. She has always taught me to be clean and neat so the girls at school don't know that I'm poor.

But they always tell about the pretty furniture they have and how their fathers serve dinner at night and they have candles and flowers on the table. Some of their mothers have even been to college and can tell them lots of things. My mother asks me to bring some of my friends home to supper. But how can I?

I'd be too embarrassed to have them see our house. My mother never has her hair curled and her hands are rough, and Daddy smells all sweaty. I don't want my friends to see them like that. But I don't know how to make them change. Maybe some of your readers could tell me how to let them know that they don't do things right. I certainly am ashamed of them now.

MISS FOURTEEN.

The Thinkers
Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Would you be willing to let a boy or girl of yours learn to fly?

Mrs. J. D. Watkins: Yes. I think stunt flying is dangerous; but if an individual is trained to fly and has a well-equipped plane, there should be no more hesitancy than if one were to drive somewhere in an automobile. In horse and buggy days, the auto was considered dangerous, too, and now we see how foolish that was.

Mrs. F. King Joslyn: No. I hope my child never becomes interested in flying. I'm not sold on it, and I couldn't be persuaded to fly, myself.

STOCKS QUIET AS WAR IS WATCHED

European Situation Is Still Confusion To Wall St. Traders

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—A quiet but rather firm stock market today kept one eye on battle headlines and the other on the business picture.

The European situation, although as confusing as ever to traders, did not seem to stimulate either exceptional buying or selling. Various motors, steels, chemicals, rails and specialties found modest followings for gains of fractions to a point or more.

American Can Drops

Shares of Spiegel-May-Stern got up 4 points and others with lesser advances included Chrysler, General Motors, Stewart-Warner, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, Monsanto Chemical, Du Pont, Santa Fe, New York Central, American Telephone and Consolidated Gas. The metals and utilities, along with several others, were about unchanged. American Can dropped a point.

Attendance in the commission houses was affected somewhat by the Jewish holiday and so-called floor professionals accounted for a large proportion of the dealings.

Like Peace Move

Approval was voiced in the financial district of steps taken by the President to keep America neutral in the present Italo-Ethiopian controversy. The embargo on exports of actual war munitions, while probably stemming foreign trade of some domestic companies, was not viewed as a particular market deterrent.

CRODDY GIVEN REALTY POST

W. F. Croddy, former president of the Santa Ana Realty board, was elected regional vice president of the California Real Estate association Saturday. The association held its convention at San Francisco.

Charles B. Shattuck, Los Angeles, was named president. Glenn D. Willaman, Los Angeles, was re-elected secretary, and Grover T. Russell, Los Angeles, treasurer.

THANKS BOND SUPPORTERS

W. H. Spurgeon, chairman of the Citizens' Water committee, Saturday issued the following statement thanking those who supported the county water bonds proposal in Friday's election:

I want to extend thanks to the citizens' committee to all those men and women who so earnestly and so willingly gave of their time, ability and funds to the cause of Orange county's water program, for which many of you have worked so indefatigably for the past many years. It is impossible to address each of you personally, but the thanks of the committee presented in this way is just as sincere, as if we had called upon each of you and expressed the same in person.

Our campaign was conducted in a spirit of honesty and sincerity, and with a desire to fully inform all the people of all the facts, so they could arrive at an intelligent decision on election day.

This election is settled, but our water and flood problem is not settled, and I hope that past differences can be wiped away and that we can unite on a comprehensive program which the people will accept.

62 Per. Want Solution

The unfortunate part is that we will very likely have to pay the entire cost of our construction ourselves, now that through our votes and our lack of votes, we have turned down the federal government's gift of $6,374,000 it had offered to us to help immediate action.

According to the election returns, 62 per cent of the people of Orange county recognized the need for flood control and water conservation measures, while 38 per cent either refuse to recognize such need, or prefer to wait and pay the entire bill ourselves instead of taking advantage of the federal government's proffered donation of one-half the cost; or else they permitted personal prejudices or fear of taxation to influence their votes instead of considering this question purely on its own merits.

The bond issue was defeated, but we still have the problem of preventing future flood disasters and conserving and augmenting our water supply.

Asks Opponents' Plan

Sixty-two per cent want a solution, and perhaps we would be wise to go ahead, since this plan is the best proposed up to this time, and organize now for submitting this question again to the voters a few months hence, as soon as legally possible.

However, I believe the interests who spent several thousand dollars to defeat this issue by suggesting alternative bonding proposals, should now prove their good faith with the voters by presenting a real plan, if they can do so, which will be acceptable to the voters. Anyone of sincerity who opposes a plan which others have developed should be able to present a better plan in its stead, and I call upon those who voted "no" and those who induced the "no" ballots to evolve and present, in workable detail, the alternative proposals which they used before election as propaganda, so that the public, in all fairness, can judge the relative merits of such proposal.

If they have any better plan, let's adopt it. If they have not, cannot, or do not have a better plan, then we had better go ahead with this one just as soon as possible, for the need is apparent to all thinking people, and such problems as this do not solve themselves.

MR. HOOVER'S NEW CLOTHES

HERBERT HOOVER'S insistence that he have a great deal to say about the Republican campaign in 1936 is certain to be listened to with new interest since his speech to the convention of Younger Republicans of the 11 western states at Oakland Saturday night.

It was another Hoover who addressed the convention. It was something of the Hoover who displayed fire and fight during the closing days of the 1932 campaign, but it was a Hoover with at least an attempt to catch the popular fancy. In large measure the ex-president succeeded in divesting himself of his heavy, cumbersome utterances of the past and substituted therefor a series of sparkling expressions which may go far in making the Republican battle cry a ringing one, as witness:

"An artificial prosperity can be created by borrowing to spend, whether by individuals or governments. That is joyriding to prosperity."

And again:

"One administration writer kindly assures us that the budget will be balanced four years hence, in 1939. That happy ending no doubt marks the end of anything to spend."

Comparing the Roosevelt spending with his own administration, Mr. Hoover attempted to show in concrete example what the annual deficit would buy in clothes. He said that outside of recoverable loans, the Roosevelt administration spending will exceed that of the Hoover administration by from 14 billion to 15 billion.

"I always have difficulty trying to comprehend what 14 billion dollars, or even three billion, five hundred million dollars really is," said Mr. Hoover. "But I know that even the mere three billion, five hundred million would buy me 90 million suits of clothes. At least, that is about one suit for every mile between the earth and the sun."

Some of the critics will think the last picture a trifle labored, perhaps, but it is interesting to see a former president who hasn't changed his style of shirt collar for 20 years, even to go fishing, become clothes conscious.

A trip to the moon with a new suit every mile!

Mr. Roosevelt and his speech-writing secretaries better think up some new ones. Mr. Hoover is getting hot.

TO ARMS, MEN!

AN APPALLING story comes from the east, and if it doesn't put men on their guard, there is no hope for them.

It seems that a lady in New York got tired of looking at her husband's gray felt hat. The man had worn it only 22 years and it was in the first bloom of maturity. Having stolen his sky piece, the lady took it around to a hatter, or milliner, as some call chapeau-shapers, and emerged a while later with what was thought, by her friends, to be a new fall model.

A snip off the brim here, a twist of the crown there, a few doodads and ribbons—and the husband's hat—good for years of wear—became a bonnet. And you know how long bonnets last—just until the lady sees somebody else wearing the same model.

In the past few years, the gals have stolen trousers, shirts, cigarettes, haircuts, shorts, swear words, cocktail bars, razor blades and jobs from men. Only hats were safe. People went around saying, "Well, they can't steal men's hats, anyway!"

Oh, can't they . . . Our advice to men is to put all their hats, if any, except the one they're wearing, into safety vaults somewhere and give their bankers the key. Otherwise, the overhead is likely to eat up the profits.

The world is like a box of strawberries. The big ones get on top, while the little ones are crushed on the bottom.

CHANGING NAMES

ONE OF the west's oldest indoor sports is changing names of various rivers, creeks, hills, valleys and canyons. Or rather, trying to.

Thus, a barranca that has been known since pioneer days as Poison gulch is suddenly rechristened Inspiration valley by esthetes who can't bear any rude, rough names within 15 miles. There is a great hurrah and usually some signs are stuck up—after which everyone goes on calling the place Poison gulch.

So nobody need get the cold shivers over Oregon's attempt to change the name of the Columbia river to "Oregon river." Governor Martin of the Webfoot state is quite exercised about it and proposes petitioning President Roosevelt to announce the change. The little fact that the President has no power to change names seems to have been overlooked.

As a matter of fact, the Columbia is a great deal more of a Washington than an Oregon river. It flows through Washington, but just past Oregon. Incidentally, it flows a long way through Canada. It was first entered by Capt. Robert Gray 12 years after the Declaration of Independence was signed, and named after his ship. Before that, in Lewis and Clark days, it was called the Oregon and so appears in Bryant's "Thanatopsis." Thousands of school kids have spouted: "Where rolls the mighty Oregon . . ."

If the name is to be changed, maybe it might become the Washcanoe river and thus still the flutterings in Washingtonian, Canadian and Oregonian breasts. But it's a safe bet that it'll be the Columbia a century from now. It's easy to change a name officially—but habit is stronger.

Judging by his current remarks, Mr. Baer got some sense, as well as his nose, beaten into him by that black boy.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Diary: By first post came Harry Stillwell Edwards' autographed copy of his "Ancestral Chronicle," a magnificent chronicle of Negro loyalty that wrings the heart. A gay note from Harry Leon Wilson, too, and a postcard from Claire Luce, doing the theaters of Moscow.

So tapping out my jot. This day I heard the Ed Nolans had left Los Angeles permanently for residence in Houston. Later to see Eileen and Virginia Rothacker at the Waldorf and chatted in the foyer a moment with Oscar, who seems as alert as he was 25 years ago.

The Will Haynes to dinner and away early. And my wife and I talked of play actors most remembered in bit parts, and Sidney Toler and Percy Kilbride were our mutual choices. Early to bed starting the first novel ever I read by Temple Bailey, called "Fair as the Moon." And goodish, too.

Frederick Lonsdale, who antedated Noel Coward writing decadent nonsense of the sophisticated, has returned to his trade after a three-year lay-off, with a London play starring Edna Best. It is said to reach a new high in fluffy mirth. Lonsdale was once a waiter and got his inspiration for lampooning Mayfair, overhearing conversations of those he served.

The West 70's reveal many architectural reminders of the building genius of the late "Daddy" Browning. Despite his eccentricities, he was first to see the eventual metropolitan need for small apartments with kitchenettes. He rushed up a half dozen thin white shafts at a time when the expansive duplex and triplex craze was on. I am told his ventures weathered the depression. Among auspicious suburban developments to which he lent a hand was Jackson Heights, probably the most completely rented area on Long Island.

Personal nomination for the smoothest of the old-time vaudeville acts—that of Ted Lewis and his crying clarinet.

In leaving the radio temporarily, I hear Paul Whiteman is actuated solely by a desire not to lose his crown as master of the sort of music he fostered. He has been at the whim of program makers and the whistling and dancy tunes that spun America into a collective waltz were more or less subjugated for a potpourri of piffle—jokes, gags and skits. In short, Paul, and deservedly so, considers himself a serious artist. Not a Baller!

The pool table is also getting a new deal. Manufacturers have started a movement to remove the stigma of a Gas House environment and jockey it back into the sedate mansions. They are changing the color of the cloth, dropping that poisonous green of old-fashioned wall paper for softer hues, white, dove gray and sky blue. And there's an attachment which goes over the table to make it suitable for ping pong or a hunt breakfast. Tip: That famous picture of Mark Twain at billiards would make a striking ad.

Rudy Vallee's fixatedness in the top drawer of the amusement world proves to be the phenomenon of a chemical industry. Men who have watched the changes confess they are nonplussed. For five years they have been saying this is Rudy's last year. Then he bobs up with a contract for a weekly salary bigger than ever. The reason is not difficult to fathom. At every performance he turns in his best. That wins in every line. Horatio Alger, Jr., used to tell us.

Thingumbobs: The Billy Seemans have three old oaks transplanted to their Central Park West penthouse . . . King Leopold of Belgium subscribes to six American monthly magazines . . . He likes stories by Ernest Hemingway . . . Frank Sullivan finds Will Cuppy restful because Cuppy usually feels even worse than he does . . . Ellen Glasgow's most confidential friend is James Branch Cabell . . . The Prince of Wales speaks better French than most Frenchmen . . . Frank Craven began acting at five, his father, mother and grandparents on both sides were trouper.

A postcard from the parents of a four-year-old in Olympia, Wash., reveals that the youngster had her own reason for disliking surf bathing. Found sulking far from the water's edge, she double negated: "I don't like no water that comes runnin' at you hunchback." (Copyright, 1935)

The bodies of Capt. William A. Ellerbrook and his beloved Newfoundland dog, who perished together in a fire, are buried in the same coffin at Wilmington, N. C.

Under the direction of State college, farmers in 10 North Carolina counties are carrying out systematic reforestation of idle lands with loblolly and longleaf pines.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

By Denys Wortman

This is no kitchenette apartment. This is supposed to be the living room, but it's really the dining room and it smells like the kitchen.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Senator Borah has determined on definite strategy in the contest for the Republican Presidential nomination. He will get himself appointed chairman of the Idaho delegation, then make the speech of his life before the Republican national convention. His purpose, however, will be to head the resolutions committee, thereby draw up the Republican national platform. He confides to friends that he doesn't care about the nomination itself, but is determined to dictate both the platform and the type of liberal the nominee shall be. His aim is to "write the Republican platform, or else tear it to pieces."

Mayor LaGuardia of New York is worried about Negro riots against Harlem Italians because of Ethiopia. The night of the Baer-Louis fight he sent an undercover commission to watch Jewish-Negro feeling in Harlem. It reported the colored battle-cry was: "Tonight we get Baer. Next Mussolini!" Reason for the referee's ultra-strict admonition against loud punches in the Baer-Louis match was the fear Joe Louis would be disqualified on a foul, causing Harlem riots against the Jews. J. Edgar Hoover must subscribe to a clipping service or else have his G-men carefully scan the papers. Whenever a friendly story is printed about him, the editor gets a letter of thanks from J. Edgar.

IN A DITHER THE WHISKY, gas, ice and milk industries are in a dither over an undercover tip that Professor Walton H. Hamilton, NRA Consumer Adviser has sent sharply critical reports to the President regarding their trade practices. The producers, recalling the withering NRA report on the auto industry, are worried over possible publication of the Hamilton reports. The Library of Congress has received a large collection of Lincoln papers from the estate of the late Robert Todd Lincoln, son of the martyred President, but under the terms of the gift they may not be opened until 1949. If you are troubled with starlings, sparrows and other bird pests, here is the latest tip from the Bureau of Biological Survey on how to get rid of them. Use shotguns loaded with black powder, or when the use of firearms is banned, Roman candles or streams of water from a hose. Though business generally has been hostile to labor's demand for prevailing wages on Work-Relief jobs, the WPA recently has received requests from several local chambers for higher Relief rates. Roosevelt friends on his transcontinental train considered it significant that the deeper he got into the farm belt, the more cordial became his receptions. Also that Mrs. Roosevelt received much more applause than in New East. Roosevelt's big navy pronouncement was rushed from the Presidential train in order to take the front page play away from the snub given Roosevelt by Governor Ruby Laffoon and his Kentucky faction. Steve Early, the Presidential press secretary, went down the aisle of the newspapermen's car making sure that they realized the importance of the naval statement. . . . In order to get the special Boulder Dam stamp completed in time for the President's appearance at the great power project, Edward M. Hall, 73-year-old bureau of engraving craftsman, aided by Carl T. Arlt, another expert, rushed through in one week engraving that ordinarily requires one month. WALLACE'S FATHER SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE has vivid memories of Herbert Hoover, when the latter, then secretary of commerce, spiked the farm reform measures of Wallace's father, then secretary of agriculture. It is Wallace's private conviction that disappointment over failure of these measures caused his father's death. In 1933 Wallace told friends: "The job killed my father, and it may kill me, but I'll take it." . . . Enthusiasm about the Houston fair telling the President that whatever fishing luck he may have, he is sure to bring home a trout. A radio expert on board is named Trout. . . . While the potato act is making all the smoke these days, the AAA is quietly preparing to put another commodity under its control. In this case, the program will not reduce production, but increase it. The commodity is flaxseed, of which the United States produces less than the domestic requirement. . . . Not to be outdone by his fellow diplomats, Dr. Enrique Bordenave, Paraguayan minister, is setting out shortly on a tour of southern states. He wants to see the difference between cotton growing in this country and in Paraguay. . . . The private life of Steve Early, secretary to the President, is suggested in the row of four pictures standing on a desk in his White House office. They all depict wild ducks in black swarms rising from the water. . . . The British Embassy in Washington has a third secretary named Philip Broad and a first secretary named Philip Broadmead. . . . Federal statisticians find that five farms have automobiles, and three have telephones for every one that has electricity.

WAR MATERIALS A VETERAN customs inspector at Norfolk, Va., has just reported a new type of potential "war material" being shipped to Italy. The inspector recently noted that large consignments of cotton waste were leaving Norfolk. As there had been no shipments of this commodity from any port for years, the agent relayed the news to Washington. A check there revealed the interesting fact that in recent weeks Italy purchased thousands of tons of this material. Cotton waste is low-grade fibre often containing portions of cotton hulls and stems—is an almost worthless product of the spinning mills. But it has a high cellulose content—of the greatest value in the manufacture of explosives. . . . Disturbed conditions in Europe the past summer proved a great boon to the tourist service reports that sight-seers to the 22 national parks this year topped the 1934 total by 400,000. . . . Senator Carter Glass, whose fierce warring on the Administration's Central Bank Bill forced important modification of the measure, will be the guest-of-honor speaker at the annual convention of the American Bankers' association in New Orleans late this month. Twenty-Five Years Ago

OCT. 7, 1910

The flying machine demonstration scheduled for yesterday afternoon proved to be a big drawing card, and hundreds were on the grounds, although there were only 420 paid admissions. Much to the disappointment of the spectators and chagrin of the aviators, the machine did not work perfectly. Glenn L. Martin, the builder of the machine, said that some of the delicate wiring had been thrown out of adjustment while it was being towed to the field.

Mrs. Paul Shoup returned to Los Angeles yesterday, accompanied by Miss Rosa Boyd, whom she had been visiting, and Mrs. James Rice. The ladies were the guests of Mrs. Shoup at a dinner at Mount Washington last evening.

REDDING, Calif. — Claiming that the buffalo, which attacked and killed her when Buffalo Bill's herd passed through the streets of this city some time ago, cut a four-inch gash in her side, a resident of Redding is bringing suit against Col. Cody and George Lilly, "Pawnee Bill."

Seven cars composed the special train which carried about 450 Odd Fellows to Anaheim last night to enjoy the hospitality of the entertainment there. A bull's head barbecue was the attraction.

Editor's Note—The supervisors, like the sheriff, say they lack authority to take a hand in this difficulty. Liquor permits are issued by the state board of equalization, not the supervisors.

Someone was playing vocal hide and seek with me in the vicinity of the Southern California Auto Club headquarters. I don't hear very well, but my sense of differentiation between the sexes is keen, so being very certain it wasn't Lot's wife I didn't even look back.

The orange growers wanted it to rain and the bean growers were afraid it would. Now after all isn't it better that control of the elements remain just where it has been since the beginning of creation?

Through the influence of my friend Elmo B. Roper, Jr., who to my profit crossed my path during a residence in one of the grass roots states, I am favored with a copy of "People's Wants and How to Satisfy Them," by Paul T. Cherington. If the edition had gone no farther than the editor's preface it would have justified the publication, but it follows with such a wealth of human experience it becomes a justifiable investment, and can be obtained from Harper & Brothers. It is an intriguing publication from the standpoint of mankind, his environment, and his attitude toward the conclusion of which brings me toward his environment was during that period of American pioneering when the human race lived close to God and nature, and out of the abundance of natural life, and man's contribution toward the domestic side, a harmony and sufficiency existed which remained undisturbed until the arrival of the agitator and the walking delegate. For the love of Mike, take us back to those homely virtues when integrity was the test of a man's wealth, and his conduct an acceptance of human values.

THE JEW of Paris are preparing to re-enact the trial of Jesus. They will reproduce in every detail the circumstances of that momentous occasion. They will attempt to answer the question as to whether the Galilean was crucified by due process of canon and Roman law, or was lynched by irresponsible parties. If they can definitely decide it was the former then nothing will be added.

If, the latter, they predict that a much more conciliatory attitude may be engendered between Jews and Christians, the whole drama should be a fascinating one.

MUSSOLINI is pouring out more defiance. Speaking to 20,000, 000 seething Italians, gathered in all the public squares from Milan to Syracuse, he carried on his bluffing in true Napoleonic style. His words were razor sharp, slaying the enemies of his country. Between the lines one reads the fear in Il Duce's soul. He appeals to the British and French peoples directly, a curious compliment from a dictator to the strength of free nations.

He retreats decidedly from his earlier declaration that any sort of collective sanctions would mean immediate war. He now says that the Italian people will meet such action with greater endurance and self-sacrifice on their own part. Hungry peoples have a way of humping their backs and throwing their masters from the saddle.

THE NATION parades its mightiest war machines before the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, off San Diego harbor. One hundred twenty-nine floating fortresses go through their paces. Hundreds of massed planes rehearse the tactics of war. So are the defenses from abroad matched by louder defiance at home. The President radiates good-will in his speech to teeming thousands. He adopts for the national motto, "I am a good neighbor."

As proof of it and of our peaceful intentions he commands the deadliest military machine on earth. "The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau."

Howdy, folks! Every oil tanker is a cafeteria to some sea gull.

MUD HOLLOW NEWS

The three-story building of the Croosod Toothpick Manufacturing company burned to the ground this morning. The Mud Hollow hook-and-ladder truck reached the scene of the conflagration after two of the walls had caved in. Fire Chief Ebenezer Horsecollar says the hook-and-ladder truck was delayed when the driver thought he saw a dime in the gutter and stopped the truck in order to let the other fire laddies get out and look for it.

YE DIARY

Earlie up, and again to journeying to the old pasture over the hill, where to searching for wild mushrooms, but could find naught of them, and Dame Juice, who do with me, doth suggest that we do place two of three golf balls around the pasture as decoys for the mushrooms, but I do reject the prettie creature's suggestion, for it be folle. Anon to home.

The People

RESENTS LIQUOR PUBLICITY

Editor The Journal: We, the decent, law abiding citizens of El Toro, deeply resent and regret the adverse publicity given our community in the so-called "beer parlor" expose, printed in two recent issues of your sheet. We hardly think the incident warranted the screaming headlines and sordid details. This type of journalism supposedly went out with melodrama and yellowbacks. Modern people enjoy a different type of news.

It might be well to remember that the El Toro camp is recruited from Disabled World War veterans, and there may be a few among them who are reckless and not wholly responsible at all times. These men gave their all for our country, and in return have received so little, it would seem more fair and just to the majority of law-abiding veterans to help them save what pride and morale they have been able to salvage from their war experience and post-war neglect, and not humiliate them and the citizens of the entire community because of the lawlessness of a few.

The county officials have taken no action locally, and since they have admitted their lack of jurisdiction over the government camp, we wonder what all the shouting was about.

No doubt there are men in other towns, who would sell their shirt for a drink and not make the headlines; but since this was a government shirt being bartered, it might be classed as news.

Several months ago we petitioned the board of supervisors against the issuance of hard liquor permits in our district, but they disregarded our voice in the matter. Now would seem a very opportune time to demand action to right the wrong which has caused this "hotpest in a teapot."—Sincerely, Frances L. Bennett, El Toro, Calif.

Week-end transaction: Everybody almost rushing to the banks to take out some money which is returned on Monday. That's keepin' the old currency in circulation, but it does a lot of good while it's in motion.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Weariness of bachelor life a Santa Ana citizen whose wife was on a vacation and had extended the time beyond the agreed period, resorted to a little strategy to get her home, so he sent a letter that everything was just as she left it except the sink was full of dirty dishes, the canary was sick, someone stole the family cat, and the laundryman had picked up all the bedding and he was sleeping on the mattress. The lawn mower was out of order, and some scamp had stolen most of the fruit. Otherwise everything was going on lovely and for her to stay and visit as long as she wanted to. The message he received a few days later read: "Starting for home immediately."

And if we have a wet winter the opponents of the water bonds will say: "You see, we got all the water we need, anyway." And on the other hand if it's a dry year it will take a carpenter's folding rule to measure your physiognomy.

Well, bring on the crystal ball and let's find out about this. A question, which should have been sent to a medium, comes to my desk. The correspondent wants to know what effect the astral spirits have on the young ladies who wear their stockings with the seam making an ogee curve, and then entirely disappearing. Say, I can't answer that question, but I can tell you one thing, dern ye, you been peekin'.

That cartoonist who suggested the G. O. P. might try and get a loan from the government, should contact Henry Fletcher.

Nerts to you, said the walnut. I've heard of more family disputes over ownership, individual rights, trespassing, etc., than has come to my attention for a number of seasons. Overhanging trees start the argument. If the nut falls in your yard is it yours, or should you just as a neighborly gesture throw it back on the other fellow's property? Well, they haven't been doing it out our way for a long time. It may be a trifle embarrassing for your neighbor to see you picking up the nuts which have fallen into your yard, but on the other hand a well behaved tree will stay on its own lot. Anyway, what's a few walnuts compared to neighborly tranquility. Nuts!

Certain gentlemen leans over my shoulder and says: "What kind of a reporter are you?" He thought something should have appeared in this column last Saturday about John Scripps' birthday. Now why should he get any free publicity. Wasn't he removed from the eligible list not long ago?

Crowded past the audience listening to the baseball game, and someone accused me of not exhibiting the proper interest. Say, that fellow didn't know I had ten cents in the pool.
